Management Discussion of Fund Performance

Results of Operations

The Investor Series units of TD Global Tactical Monthly Income Fund (the "Fund") returned 10.8% for the six-month period ended June 30, 2024 (the "Reporting Period"), versus 4.3% for the Fund's product benchmark, which is comprised of 50% Bloomberg Multiverse Total Return Index (C$) and 50% MSCI World High Dividend Yield Index (Net Dividend, C$). Unlike the product benchmark, the Fund's return is quoted after the deduction of fees and expenses. Returns for other series of the Fund may vary, largely due to differences in fees and expenses. Refer to the Past Performance section for returns of various series of the Fund.

Market Update

The global economy grew at a modest pace over the Reporting Period, continuing to avoid a recession that was widely expected amid tight financial conditions. The U.S. economy expanded, benefiting from a resilient U.S. consumer. Residential investment was also a key contributor to growth. After stagnating in 2023, the U.S. residential real estate market appeared to be improving, due in part to expectations that the U.S. Federal Reserve Board ("Fed") could begin lowering interest rates in 2024. The Fed held the target range of its benchmark interest rate steady at 5.25%-5.50%. China's economy showed some signs of stabilizing and expanded in the first quarter of 2024, but ongoing challenges limited overall growth. China's property market continued to struggle amid high debt levels. In addition, domestic demand remained subdued, weighing on business activity. In an effort to stimulate the property market, the People's Bank of China lowered its five-year loan prime rate, a reference rate for mortgages, early in the Reporting Period. Meanwhile, the government undertook an aggressive bond issuance, seeking to use the money to support the challenged areas of China's economy.

After contracting in the fourth quarter of 2023, Europe's economy rebounded in the first quarter of 2024, posting a small expansion. The services sector was a key driver of growth, benefiting from an increase in demand and output. Conversely, manufacturing sector activity remained challenged, weighing on overall economic growth. Amid slowing inflation and modest economic growth, the European Central Bank ("ECB") reduced its benchmark interest rate by 0.25% to 4.25%. Among Europe's largest countries, the German economy expanded over the Reporting Period, albeit at a relatively slow pace. Business investment and exports increased, positively contributing to the German economy. The U.K. economy expanded in the first quarter of 2024 after falling into a technical recession (a technical recession is reached when an economy has two straight quarterly contractions) towards the end of 2023. The economy got a boost from consumer spending. The Bank of England ("BoE") held its benchmark interest rate steady at 5.25%. However, a downward trend in inflation raised expectations that the BoE might be preparing to reduce interest rates later in 2024. Japan's economy was relatively weak in the first quarter of 2024, hindered by a decline in personal spending. For the first time in 17 years, the Bank of Japan increased its benchmark interest rate to a target range of 0.00%-0.10%, largely in response to elevated inflationary pressures.

Global equity markets advanced over the Reporting Period, with some central banks beginning to lower interest rates, while others signalled their intentions to do so later in 2024. Furthermore, the global economy remained resilient despite tight financial conditions, avoiding a deep recession. U.S. equity markets advanced, driven by the strong performance of mega-capitalization technology stocks. Ten of 11 sectors in the U.S. equity market delivered positive returns. Information technology, communication services and financials were the top-performing U.S. sectors, while real estate, materials, and consumer discretionary were the weakest performers.

Chinese equities increased slightly over the Reporting Period, supported by the relatively strong performance of the energy and utilities sectors. Investor sentiment was boosted by the government taking steps to help stimulate the economy, which has been weighed down by weak domestic demand and a challenging property market. European equities delivered a relatively strong return amid signs the economy may be stabilizing. The ECB lowered interest rates, which could stimulate consumer activity. Information technology and financials were among the top-performing sectors in European equity markets. From a country perspective, returns were driven by the Netherlands, Italy and Spain. U.K. equities advanced, benefiting from solid gains in the industrials and health care sectors. Japanese equities posted strong returns, with financials and energy being among the top-performing sectors.

Towards the end of the Reporting Period, the Bank of Canada ("BoC") lowered its benchmark overnight interest rate by 0.25% to 4.75%, the first rate cut since 2020. The BoC believed a rate reduction was warranted at this time, with inflationary pressures easing and relatively slow economic conditions. Although Canada's economy has expanded, the pace of growth was modest. A rise in consumer and business spending drove growth in the first quarter of 2024. Conversely, the manufacturing sector contracted over the Reporting Period due to weaker demand, which weighed on Canada's economic health. Canada's inflation rate remained above the BoC's 2% target, however, it eased due to a slowdown in food and energy price growth. Canada's central bank acknowledged inflation remains a risk and suggested future interest rate reductions might be gradual. Canada's labour market, a source of strength for the economy coming out of the pandemic, showed signs of cooling. While the economy added jobs, it did not keep up with the pace of population growth, which pushed the unemployment rate higher.

Canadian bond prices declined slightly over the Reporting Period, with yields moving higher. Early in the Reporting Period, bond yields increased with inflationary pressures persisting and expectations growing that the BoC would delay any interest rate reductions until later in 2024. However, towards the end of the Reporting Period, yields fell and reversed some of their earlier increases as the BoC lowered its benchmark overnight interest rate in response to slowing inflation and waning economic growth. The benchmark 10-year Government of Canada bond yield rose from 3.11% to 3.50%, with much of the gains coming before the BoC lowered interest rates. Canada's yield curve remained inverted (when short-term government bond yields are higher than long-term government bond yields). Short-term bond prices outperformed their mid- and long-term counterparts. Corporate bond prices rose and outperformed government bonds, which declined. Credit spreads (the difference in yields between corporate and government bonds with similar maturities) narrowed.

Key Contributors/Detractors

The Fund generated a positive return and outperformed its product benchmark over the Reporting Period.

- The Portfolio Adviser's preference for equities over fixed income contributed to the Fund's performance.
- Security selection within the information technology sector was the largest contributor to performance owing to positions in NVIDIA Corp. and two other semiconductor companies, all of which were major beneficiaries of generative artificial intelligence ("AI") and continued to report strong results.
- Security selection within the health care sector contributed to performance as the Fund owned two large pharmaceuticals companies that were leaders in diabetes & obesity care, as well as an American multinational provider of medical services equipment, all of which outperformed the sector.
- Security selection within the industrials sector contributed to performance owing to positions in a range of companies worldwide that primarily operate within electrical products, aerospace & defense sub-industries, all of which outperformed their peers.
- Security selection within the energy sector detracted from performance owing to positions in an American multinational provider of oilfield services and a French integrated oil major. The Fund's lack of exposure to Exxon Mobil Corp. also detracted from performance.

Recent Developments

The Portfolio Adviser expects global economic activity to remain relatively modest in 2024, as a result of tight financial conditions, geopolitical tensions, and softer demand from consumers and businesses. Given relatively weak economic conditions and moderating inflation, global central banks are expected to begin lowering interest rates. This could help reignite economic growth over the second half of 2024 and help the global economy avoid a recession.

Global economic expansion is proving to be more resilient than most forecasters would have predicted heading into 2024. Despite persistent inflation concerns globally, which have slowed the timing of potential interest rate reductions, global equity markets have continued to reach new all-time highs. Big-picture secular trends like burgeoning AI and data centre investment, resilient consumer spending despite challenging conditions, and improving manufacturing indicators have driven the market. Across most global regions, core inflation measures (which excludes more volatile items such as food and energy) have continued to move lower, and over 20 central banks have announced interest rate cuts so far this year, potentially signalling an impending easing cycle. The exception to this is the Fed, which will likely delay interest rate cuts until later this year. The U.S. continued to show strong growth in real gross domestic product ("GDP"), with unemployment remaining below 5% for almost three years, but there are signs that growth is slowing.

European equities have also been recovering, with economic growth reaccelerating after the energy crisis of recent years. The most recent ECB interest rate cut and a pickup in manufacturing activity should benefit the region. Within Asia, the Portfolio Adviser is cautious about the outlook for China. While China showed positive GDP growth in the first quarter, the country may see weaker growth for the foreseeable future as risks from the property sector remain a concern. In contrast, the Portfolio Adviser remains positive on Japan as corporate reforms are changing the dynamic within organizations, with companies becoming more shareholder-friendly by increasing share buybacks and dividends. Japan is close to ending its long-term deflation and is potentially at the beginning of growth cycle that should see rising corporate profits largely driven by increased consumer demand and market confidence.

The Portfolio Adviser strategically added to positions with clear secular drivers, especially stocks within the communication services and information technology sectors. Investments tied to computing infrastructure and social media remain a focus, while the Portfolio Adviser trimmed the Fund's exposures to the consumer discretionary and materials sectors as a source of funds. The Portfolio Adviser remains cautiously optimistic on the outlook for global equities, but there are risks relating to escalating global conflicts and unexpected political outcomes, as evidenced by election results in France. The upcoming U.S. election in November may have unexpected market repercussions.

The Fund maintains an overweight exposure to equities. Within fixed income, the Portfolio Adviser continues to step up the quality of the Fund's exposure, focusing on government and investment-grade corporate credit, while the Fund's sensitivity to interest rate changes was largely kept stable. The Portfolio Adviser maintains a preference for high-quality companies that deliver rising income streams to shareholders.

² Net assets and distributions are based on the actual number of units outstanding at the relevant time. The increase (decrease) from operations is based on the weighted average number of units outstanding over the financial periods. These tables are not intended to be a reconciliation of the net assets per unit.

³ Distributions were paid in cash or reinvested in additional units of the Fund, or both.

¹ This information is provided as at June 30, 2024 and December 31 of the past five fiscal years, as applicable.

² Management Expense Ratio ("MER") is based on total expenses (excluding distributions, commissions and other portfolio transaction costs) net of any waivers or absorptions for the stated period, including the Fund's proportionate share of the MER, if any, of the underlying fund(s) in which the Fund has invested in, and is expressed as an annualized percentage of daily average NAV during the period. Management Expense Ratio Before Waivers or Absorptions is based on total expenses and excludes the management fees on the portion of the NAV the Fund invests in the underlying funds that are managed by TDAM or its affiliates. There will be no duplication of management fees paid to TDAM or its affiliates. Any waivers or absorptions may be discontinued at any time by TDAM at its discretion without notice.

⁴ The Fund's portfolio turnover rate ("PTR") indicates how actively the Fund's portfolio adviser manages its investments. A PTR of 100% is equivalent to the Fund buying and selling all of the securities in its portfolio once in the course of the stated period. The higher a fund's PTR, the greater the trading costs payable, directly or indirectly, by the fund in the period, and the greater the chance of an investor receiving taxable capital gains in the fiscal year. There is not necessarily a relationship between a high turnover rate and the performance of a fund.

Management Fees

As manager and trustee of the Fund, TDAM is responsible for the overall business and affairs of the Fund, including activities related to making units of the Fund available to investors, and providing, or arranging for the provision of, investment advisory services and marketing services to the Fund. In consideration for the provision of such services, each series of the Fund pays TDAM a management fee.

Management fees are calculated and accrued on a daily basis for each applicable series based on the net asset value of that series and paid monthly to TDAM.

The simplified prospectus discloses a specified annual management fee rate that TDAM can charge for each series of the Fund. Where TDAM chooses to charge a management fee rate below the specified annual management fee rate, the difference represents a waiver of management fees. TDAM may waive all or a portion of the management fees being charged to the Fund, which may be discontinued at any time by TDAM at its discretion without notice to unitholders.

The annual management fees and a breakdown of the major services rendered for each series, as a percentage of the management fees paid, are as follows:

(expressed as a %)	Annual Mgmt. Fees*	Dealer Compensation	Waived Operating Expenses	Other†
Investor Series	1.85	54.28	0.00	45.72

* Includes management fees paid by the Fund and the proportionate management fees, if any, of the underlying fund(s) managed by TDAM held by the Fund. However, no management fees are payable by the Fund that, to a reasonable person, would duplicate a fee payable by the underlying fund(s) for the same services.

† The management fee rate disclosed represents the maximum annual rate per the simplified prospectus dated July 28, 2016. The series is no longer being offered under the most recent simplified prospectus.
