Before you invest in any fund, consider how the fund would work with your other investments and your tolerance for risk.

This mutual fund is an alternative mutual fund. It is permitted to invest in asset classes or use investment strategies that are not permitted for conventional mutual funds. The specific strategies that differentiate this fund from conventional mutual funds may include the: increased ability to use derivatives for hedging and non-hedging purposes; increased ability to sell securities short; and the ability to borrow cash to use for investment purposes. While these strategies may be used in accordance with the fund's investment objectives and strategies, during certain market conditions they may accelerate the pace at which your investment decreases in value.

What does the fund invest in?

The fund seeks to generate capital growth with low correlation to equity and fixed income markets over the long term by capturing returns related to the commodity markets. The fund will use a combination of conventional and alternative strategies, including the use of leverage created through exposure to derivatives, short selling and/or the use of borrowing. The fund will invest primarily in one or a combination of commodity-linked derivative instruments including, but not limited to: swap agreements, futures, options on futures, commodity index-linked notes and commodity options that provide exposure to the investment returns of the commodity markets. The fund's aggregate gross exposure to the use of leverage, calculated as the sum of the following, shall not exceed 300% of the fund's net asset value: (i) the aggregate value of outstanding indebtedness under any borrowing agreements; (ii) the aggregate market value of all securities sold short; and (iii) the aggregate notional value of the fund's specified derivatives positions excluding any specified derivatives used for hedging purposes.

How risky is it?

The value of the fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

One way to gauge risk is to look at how much a fund's returns change over time. This is called "volatility".

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

TDAM has rated the volatility of this fund as medium.

This rating is based on how much the fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the fund's returns, see the section entitled "What are the risks of investing in the Fund?" in the fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this fund is not guaranteed or insured. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

How has the fund performed?

This section tells you how F-Series securities of the fund performed over the past year. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This chart shows how F-Series securities of the fund performed in the past completed calendar year. The fund did not drop in value for the year.

The range of returns and change from year to year can help you assess how risky the fund has been in the past. It does not tell you how the fund will perform in the future.

Best and worst 3-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for F-Series securities of the fund in a 3-month period over the past year. The best and worst 3-month returns could be higher or lower in the future. Consider how much of a loss you could afford to take in a short period of time.

	Return	3 months ending	If you invested $1,000 at the beginning of the period
Best return	9.1%	March 31, 2025	Your investment would rise to $1,091.
Worst return	-5.9%	August 31, 2024	Your investment would drop to $941.

Average return

As of May 31, 2025, the annual compounded return of F-Series securities of the fund was 1.5% since inception. If you had invested $1,000 in F-Series securities of the fund since inception, your investment would now be worth $1,025.

Who is this fund for?

This fund may be suitable for investors who:

- are investing for the medium to long-term
- are seeking an alternative mutual fund that may employ leverage
- want exposure to commodity markets, that traditionally help provide a hedge against inflation
- are contributing to the growth component of a diversified portfolio
- are willing to accept the cyclical nature of certain commodity prices
- can handle the ups and downs of the markets

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay and/or when you pay depends on the tax laws where you live, the type of distributions made by the fund and whether or not you hold the fund in a registered plan such as a Registered Retirement Savings Plan or a Tax-Free Savings Account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, you must include taxable fund distributions in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell F-Series securities of the fund. The fees and expenses – including any commissions – can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.
