

Sandy Cimoroni

Senior Vice President, Shared Services & Chief Operating Officer, TD Wealth

As the SVP, Shared Services and Chief Operating Officer for TD Wealth, Sandy has responsibility for: Employee & Customer Experience, Communications, Governance & Control, Data Strategy, Business Architecture, Wealth Products and the Operations team.

Sandy has over 25 years of financial services experience and has held a number of increasingly senior roles across TD, including Retail Banking, Mutual Funds and Wealth Management. Prior to her current appointment, Sandy was President, TD Mutual Funds and, prior to that, was Senior Vice President, TD Wealth Financial Planning. Her past experience has provided a deep understanding of both the distribution and manufacturers view of the Wealth landscape.

Sandy is active in the investment community where she is a Board Member for the Investment Industry Association of Canada and a past Board Member of the Investment Funds Institute of Canada. She is also known as a strong leader and champion for women in business. As a member of TD's Women in Leadership Council and Chair for the Wealth Diversity Leadership Council, Sandy has affected change by her deep commitment to the ongoing sponsorship of both mentorship and networking programs. She also acts as Executive Sponsor for TD's Women's Investor Strategy, which focuses on serving the needs of female investors.

As an active member of the United Way campaign for the past several years, Sandy has chaired the Major Giving focus for Wealth and is a member of the Greater Toronto Area Cabinet for United Way Campaign. As a graduate of the University of Windsor, Sandy holds a Bachelor of Arts, and is also an accredited Certified Financial Planner. On a personal note, Sandy and her husband, John, have a son and live in Oakville, Ontario.

