

Tony Ierullo

Vice President, Strategy and Product, TD Direct Investing

As the Vice President, Strategy and Product, Tony oversees the growth of TD Direct Investing by identifying and managing opportunities for continuous innovation. He is a driving force behind the transformation of the online investing experience through enhancements to TD Direct Investing platforms and technology.

Since 1995, Tony has held a number of important roles within TD Wealth. His 20+ years of experience have given him a deep knowledge of the industry and a thorough understanding of client needs. Tony is known for his passion for empowering clients to become better, smarter investors by arming them with powerful and intuitive platforms, sophisticated trading capabilities and best-in-class tools and resources.

As a graduate of the Schulich School of Business, Tony holds a Bachelor of Business Administration specialized honors degree with a concentration in Finance and Marketing. Outside of work, he is kept busy by his two daughters, who are actively involved in various sports and the performing arts.

